

Successful study

Personal counselling

We offer personal and interdisciplinary counselling to promote your success in your studies. We support you throughout all phases of your studies in...

... providing orientation

e.g. during crises in your studies, or when you are not sure about your study goals or future career

... making decisions

e.g. before a possible change of subject, or in deciding how to continue after completion of your bachelor's degree

... realising your plans

e.g. by implementing suitable learning strategies to complete your studies successfully.

In all such cases, make use of our confidential personal counselling services during your studies.

For each course at the University of Göttingen, you will find advisers for studies and examination at the different faculties. If you need support with a particular question regarding the organisation of your studies, you should contact our colleagues in the faculties, see www.uni-goettingen.de/advising-in-the-faculties. That would be the case, e.g. if you are unsure how to plan your timetable or which course contents you should choose next.

We, as a central service, provide support regarding all issues beyond a particular course. You can contact us, e.g. if you are unsure about which direction you want to take with your education or career path and you are contemplating changing your course or taking up a second one.
